The states of Oceania and Genovia have been mired in conflict for many decades. In the wake of two wars in 1948 and 1967, Oceania expanded into the Genovian lands and annexed territories A, B and C, leading to hostility between both peoples. Subsequently, the two groups initiated numerous truces and peace agreements to no avail. Destruction and deadly violence became a routine affair and militaries of both Oceania and Genovia have been accused of war crimes. Although the state of Genovia has a definitive and permanent population but there is sufficient ambiguity as to Genovian territory pertaining to the territories A, B and C. Furthermore, the Genovian Authority does not enjoy exclusive authority over these territories; some parts are co-administered with Oceania. Genovia Liberation Organization (GLO) had been recognized as “sole legitimate representative of the Genovian people,” competent on all matters concerning the question of Genovia by the UN General Assembly in addition to the right of the Genovian people in Genovia to national independence and sovereignty.

In the light of these facts, examine the statehood possibilities of Genovia as per relevant international conventions and theories of Statehood. 12

3. Discuss the principle of International Law relating to amicable means of settlement of international disputes. 12

4. Define Intervention and its types. State the valid principles relating to Intervention on the ground of Self-Defense and Self-Preservation with reference to suitable case laws.

Formula rebellion was a right-wing rebel group against the socialist government of Dominica, a small poor island nation in Central America. These rebels violated numerous human rights and used terrorist tactics to usurp the government. They have been accused of targeting health centers, kidnapping, torturing and even executing civilians (some were children), raping and committing other sexual crimes against women, seizing civilian property and burning civilian houses. Dominica stated that the Government of Indica, a global superpower and a neighbor of Dominica had funded the Formula Rebellion against the Dominican government. Government of Indica was also accused of planting naval mines in Dominica's territorial waters and breaching its air space and allegations of carrying out other illegal military and paramilitary activities in and against Dominica from 1981-1984. There was established evidence that the Formula Rebellion was funded by the intelligence agency of Indica. State of Indica asserts that it relied on an inherent right of collective self-defence guaranteed in Article 51 of the UN Charter when it provided "upon request proportionate and appropriate assistance..." to countries A, B and C in response to Dominica's acts of aggression against those countries.

The state of Dominica went to the International Court of Justice against the state of Indica. Did the Government of Indica violate the established principles of international law and the sovereignty of Dominica ? Argue on the points of non-intervention, use of force, collective self-defence. Discuss in the light of relevant legal provisions and case laws.

Harish Chawla was a prominent business personality of India. At one time, he owned India's biggest liquor company, private jet, an Airbus, and many other riches such as a fleet of luxury cars and a private yacht. Chawla left India for UK in 2016 in the wake of cases registered by the Enforcement Directorate as well as the Central Bureau of Investigation for alleged fraud and money laundering of around 9000 crores. Chawla had fraudulently obtained huge loans from a consortium of banks led by the State Bank of India, for running his now-defunct Airlines. In January, 2019, he was declared a Fugitive Economic Offender by the Indian Government under the Fugitive Economic Offenders Act, 2018. Chawla was allegedly involved in false representation to the bank on his financial condition. India and UK have a bilateral treaty on Extradition and India also has its own law — Fugitive Economic Offenders Act, 2018.

In the light of these facts, give your legal opinion on the extradition of Harish Chawla to India. Use relevant case laws to support your reasoning.
